

TRAINER®

The colours of health... Use the Fruits!

Antioxidants, minerals, vitamins, fatty acids and food fibres in the superpremium range Trainer®: products of different colours for specific needs. What stays at the base of the new superpremium Trainer® range is the concept of eating something green, something yellow and something red every day to preserve good health, as the nutritionists suggest. Starting with the prebiotics (inulin and oligosaccharides) from different vegetables like chicory, three product categories identified with the colours of the main nutraceuticals contained. Biologically active substances that are able to bring benefits to the pet's wellness, together with a healthy life style and a balanced diet. Three highly specialised food categories are now available with functional ingredients that help promote the natural pet wellness: a complete range that meets the cat demands at all life stages according to different life styles and health conditions.

Trainer® Natural: normal requirements

Maintenance diets for kittens and adult cats based on functional ingredients of red colour, preserves the kidneys and helps protect the teeth, the digestive tract and the coat.

Trainer® Fitness: food hypersensitivity

Single-protein and hypoallergenic diets based on functional ingredients of yellow colour. A balanced combination of natural ingredients, a single source of carbohydrates and a single source of protein for the pet's total wellness.

Trainer® Personal: special needs

Based on green functional ingredients meets the demands of cats with specific needs. The ingredients enhance the coat's beauty and the body shape, contribute to solve problems of intestinal sensitivity, reduce overweight problems, preserve the kidneys and help remove hairballs.
